

Delft, March 1, 1954.

Dr. Perry W. Wilson,
Professor of Bacteriology,
College of Agriculture,
University of Wisconsin,
Madison 6, Wisconsin.

Dear Dr. Wilson,

C May I thank you heartily for your letter of February 23rd. I was, O of course, happy to read that I should be welcome, if I manage to reach
P Madison on my way to the West. If I am successful in this respect I am Y quite willing to give a lecture on a more general subject. I appreciate,
O of course, that in this case it would be possible for the Lecture
P Committee to take care of my expenses.

Y For the moment I am still unable to make a definite program, so I hope that it will be allright, if I let you know after my arrival at Harvard, which means in the second half of April.

I do not think I shall be able to attend the meeting of the Society of American Bacteriologists at Pittsburgh, and as far as I can judge now it seems most probable that I could come to Madison in the second half of May.

Looking forward to the pleasure of meeting you once more, I am,

Sincerely,

(Signed)

(A. J. Kluyver)

P.S. May I take the opportunity to thank you for the many reprints you were so kind as to send me and which I read with great interest.
